ESTIMATE 100 DIE IN FLOOD IN SAN ANTONIO

Forty Five Bodies Have Been Recovered—22 Are Missing.
LOSS OVER $5,000,000
Relief Work Being Pushed Forward—Troops are On Guard

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 12.—The task of searching for the bodies of the dead in the wreckage caused by the flood of early Saturday, was continuing today by the army of civilians and soldier workers. Forty-five known dead already have been recovered, 22 are reported missing and 27 are injured.

Police Commissioner Phil Wright estimated today that the total dead will amount to 100. Property damage has been revised to between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, the total depending largely on the salvaging of merchandise damaged by the muddy waters.

It is believed scores of bodies will be found along the muddy courses of Alazan creek and the San Antonio river, washed to remote spots by the force of the rushing waters. There are still many huge piles of wreckage in the Mexican residential section and other dead are certain to be found among the debris.

The work of restoring order was greatly facilitated today by resumption of water service and partial resumption of electric service.

Relief work in the city is well organized. The American red cross has established a clothing headquarters to which donations are being brought from all parts of the city and three food stations are in operation. More than two thousand victims were given aid.

Mayor O. B. Black, working with a committee of citizens, has issued a proclamation covering the details of the relief work, designating officers for finance and distribution, assigning morgues and naming a corps to assist in protection of the downtown district. More than $20,000 has been raised in the city for relief purposes and it is the intention of those handling the subscriptions to furnish all that is necessary without calling for outside assistance.

Homeless victims are being cared for by churches, orphanages, schools and the city market house. In addition many have been taken into private homes.

Troops from Fort Sam Houston and Camp Travis have been assigned to assist the police in guarding the inundated business district and lines have been thrown about the heavily damaged section.

EXPLORERS' PARTY SAILS FROM NOME

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 12.—The power schooner, Silver Wave, Captain Jack Hammer, under charter to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, with an advance party of four composed of Allen Crawford, E. Lorne Knight, F. W. Maurer and Milton Galle, who arrived from Seattle, and Ada Blackjack, of Nome, an Eskimo woman, has sailed from Nome for Wrangel Island, in the Arctic Ocean off the northeast coast of Siberia.

The party will establish a supply base on Wrangel Island for future expedition work to be carried on by Stefansson, who with others, will join them at the base next summer.

The party carried dog teams and supplies to last for a year. They will depend upon their hunters for fresh meat.

'THE ROCK,' NEWEST DANCE TO SUCCEED POPULAR ONES

Cleveland, O., Sept. 12.—The toddle and the shimmy are "dead and buried" according to dancing masters attending the sixth annual fall meeting of the Ohio Association of Dancing Masters, Inc., here.

"The rock," described as a promenade walk, possibly will be one of the chief successors to these dances. It has been approved by the international and national associations and undoubtedly will be approved by the Ohio masters.

"The rock" is executed in three movements, a balance, forward and back; repeat, take your walking steps, rock, turn on right foot holding it stationary as pivot and do a rock side to side.

The Censorship Committee is looking over demonstrations of all new dances and will give its ruling before the close of the convention today.

GERMAN MARK FALLS

New York, Sept. 12.—The German mark today fell to the lowest price in its history. Its value on the foreign exchange market here was less than one cent—.0093 to be exact. Disquieting unconfirmed rumors or the possibility of a moratorium being established in Germany was responsible. The pre-war value of the mark was about 24 cents.

GIRL WILL "SELL" SELF TO OBTAIN AN EDUCATION

The yearning of this attractive twenty-year-old Chicago girl for an education has caused her to offer herself "for sale" in marriage for $5,000. The offer comes as a climax to a futile struggle to raise money in other ways. She tried clerking, bookkeeping, salesmanship and nursing. After careful calculations of the expenses of a course through college, Miss Peterson "priced" herself at $5,000. She prefers a tall husband and states she will marry at once if necessary, but would rather wait until she had graduated from college.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES; TWENTY FOUR MEET DEATH IN STREAM

Chester, Pa., Scene of Accident in Which Many are Drowned

Chester, Pa., Sept. 12.—Twenty-four persons were drowned and five seriously injured in the collapse Saturday night of the bridge spanning the Chester River at Third St., in the heart of the city's business district. The police made this announcement last night after divers had definitely determined no more bodies remained in the water.

A small wrought-iron gusset plate part of the support for a footpath along the side of the structure, which had been half eaten by rust, gave way under the weight of nearly 100 persons, who were attracted to the spot by the cries of a drowning boy, and precipitated the victims into the river.

The last body to be dragged from the deep mud at the bottom of the river was that of 8 year old Charles Apostolus, the child whose death was the inadvertent cause of the accident. It was recovered shortly before noon yesterday and placed at the end of the row of 24 victims whose bodies reposed in White's morgue, awaiting removal to their former homes.

All the dead were residents of Chester, most of whom had just reached the business district, on their way to theaters or stores. Little Charles Apostolus was in a group of children on the river bank in the rear of a theater, watching the antics of a bear which was to appear in the show. He was excited playmates and his cries for help attracted the crowds on Third St.

Several hundred persons dashed for small bridge and others were trying to push onto it when, without warning, one end of the footway buckled. The heavy walk dropped like a trap door and in instant 50 persons were struggling in the muddy water. A score more clung to the bent hand rail and iron water pipes, fighting to reach safety before their fragile perches gave way.

The victims were caught in a veritable death trap. At the point of the accident the water is 16 feet deep. The river is scarcely more than 25 feet wide and factory and store walls are built to its very edge.

EX-PRESIDENT OF GUATEMALA TO DIE

Guatemala City, Guatemala, September 12.—Manuel Estrada Cabrera, former President of Guatemala, has been sentenced to death by a Guatemalan court, it was announced Sunday. He was convicted of the murder of Jose Coronado Aguilar.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The government of Guatemala hastened to assure the United States government today that the sentence of death imposed by a lower court on Estrada Cabrera will not be carried out.

The Guatemalan minister of foreign affairs has informed the American minister at Guatemala City that the president of the Republic will issue a decree preventing the carrying out of the sentence.

STATE POLICE KEEP ORDER IN TRIGGER TRIAL

Second Hearing, Growing Out of Matewan Battle, Under Way.

SEARCH WITNESSES

Atmosphere Tense as Trial Opens Monday at Williamson.

Courthouse, Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 12.—Extra forces of state police and militia men are here today to guard Mingo county courthouse and keep vigil in the courtroom as testimony proceeds in the second "trigger trial" growing out of the battle of Matewan of May 1920, in which Albert C. Felts and six other Baldwin Felts detectives were killed.

Strong feelings made the atmosphere tense, Major Thomas B. Davis state military commander of the county under martial law, is personally in charge of the situation and is taking every precaution to prevent and outbreak that may fan the flame of war and again turn "bloody Mingo" into a battlefield.

Nearly one hundred witnesses are here for the trial.

Most of the population of Matewan are among them. They are handy with their guns, the men of Matewan and the majority of them are union miners or their sympathizers.

Witnesses as well as spectators are searched before they enter the court room.

Even the cuspidors in the room are examined to see that no ammunition or small weapons have become mixed with the tobacco outpourings from Matewanian mouths.

Old Jed McCoy, who has lived down Matewan way nigh fifty years and comes from the Kentucky McCoy, sadly sucked his tobacco as he stood on the courthouse steps this morning.

"I grewed with a gun," he said, "an' jest don't seem natural not packin' one about."

Men from one section of West Virginia where there has never been industrial conflict compose the jury sitting in judgment of the two miners who are defendants in the second "trigger trial" specifically charged with the murder of W. J. Ferguson.

The jurors are from Pocahontas county, where there are no mines. Most of them are farmers and all live in localities far from the turmoil that has kept other counties in the state seething with war.

Reese Chambers, one of the defendants—a burly, middle-aged mountaineer—is father of E. W. Chambers, "baby defendant" in the first "trigger trial" who was killed by C. E. Lively, star witness for the state in the trial early this year, an alleged detective.

Fred Burgraff the other defendant, is a young miner of the lean mountaineer type with eyes as cool as Sild Hatfield's. He wears his left arm in a sling. It was injured not in the adventuresome pursuit of war but in the prosaic business of cranking a Ford.

"BILL OF COMPLAINT" FILED BY OFFICIALS

Washington, Sept. 12.—The government today filed a "bill of complaint" against Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of Grover C. Bergdoll, notorious Philadelphia draft evader, who is now a refugee in Germany.

This action was necessary, according to Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, because Mrs. Bergdoll, and her attorneys have repeatedly refused to comply with the provisions of the law covering the property of herself and her missing son.

MURDER OF TWO ADMITTED BY YOUTH

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Harvey W. Church, the 20-year-old youth accused of slaying B. J. Dougherty and Carl Ausmus to obtain possession of a $5,400 automobile, broke down after 12 hours of questioning yesterday and made a complete confession, according to the police.

The youth, brought back Saturday night from Adams, Wis. his former home, where he had driven his mother in the car Friday, the day after the murder, was quoted as admitting that he alone planned and executed the tragedy.

OFFENSIVE BEGUN BY SPANISH TROOPS

Paris, September 12.—Uncensored dispatches from Madrid state that the Spanish forces have commenced their offensive to Morocco. With 22,000 troops the Spaniards left Melilla in two columns, heading south and west. The Moors put up a fierce resistance and the south column was reported to have been checked four miles from Melilla. The west column is besieging Ft. Cabrerias which is resisting strongly.

The Spanish losses are reported to have been heavy, while the Moors' casualties have not been determined.

ACCEPTS PROPOSAL

Sinn Fein Delegation To Conference Not Yet Selected.

Dublin, Sept. 12.—Eamonn Devalera's reply to the British cabinet's note of last Wednesday protests against any stipulations for the peace conference at Inverness and expresses preference for a parley without the issue of a break from the British empire being raised, it was learned today.

The Sinn Fein note which accepts the British proposal for a peace conference at Inverness was dispatched this morning.

It is being taken to Premier Lloyd George in Scotland by Joseph MacGrath, a Sinn Fein courier.

The Sinn Fein delegation that will attend the conference has not yet been selected. It will be appointed when Dail Eireann, (Sinn Fein parliament) meets here in secret session Wednesday. It probably will be made up of Devalera, Arthur Griffith, Prof. MacNeill, R. C. Barton, A. Stack, and C. Burgess and possibly two others.

U. S. REFUSAL TO JOIN LEAGUE IS NOT ALARMING

Geneva, Sept. 12.—Refusal of the United States to enter the league of nations should not cause any anxiety Leon Bourgeois, head of the French delegation told the league assembly in an address here today.

"There is some anxiety because the United States has not seen fit to join us," said M. Bourgeois. "This should not cause worry or anxiety. We never attempted to get any nation to enter. That is not business. We realize that America has national interests and prejudices."

Referring to the far east and disarmament conference that President Harding has summoned in Washington in November, M. Bourgeois said: "America is inspired by the same motive of justice and peace as the league of nations. We wish the conference every success. We should put confidence in the great nation that sent 1,500,000 soldiers to Europe to fight for liberty."

WOUNDS ARE FATAL TO CAR CONDUCTOR

Columbus, Ohio, September 12.—One and possibly two murders will be the outcome of the banditry of Friday night when a masked highwayman held up within the city limits a lumber case, Urban and West, on passenger car. When the crew resisted the robber shot both conductor and motorman and rob the former obtaining $50.

Last night Russell Grute, the conductor, died and physicians report that the motorman, Elmer Myers has but little chance for recovery. Police last night were working on the report that a disguise was found near the scene of the attack. Three suspects arrested at Springfield were released Sunday upon establishing an alibi.

The company operating the line will issue a large reward for the capture of the murderer it is said.

THEATER WILL NOT SHOW PICTURES

New York, Sept. 12.—The notoriety occasioned by the death of Miss Virginia Rappe and the arrest of "Fatty" Arbuckle on a charge of murder aroused interest today along Broadway as to what effect the case would have regarding exhibition of films in which Arbuckle is starred.

The Capitol, which is one of the largest movie theaters in the world, authorized this statement: "We would not touch his pictures now. The public would not come to see his pictures if exhibited."

MEETING CALLED

Washington, Sept. 12.—A meeting Wednesday of the senate committee appointed to investigate the mine war in the West Virginia coal fields was called today by Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, the committee chairman.

TERRIFIC OIL EXPLOSION CAUSES MILLION DOLLAR DAMAGE AT HALIFAX MONDAY

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 12.—A terrific explosion wrecked six great oil stills of the Imperial Oil Company here today.

One person is missing and two others are badly injured. The damage is estimated at more than $1,000,000.

There were twelve high pressure oil stills in the district swept by the explosion.

The explosion caused tremendous excitement as many recalled the unprecedented war munitions explosions here in 1917 when part of the city was destroyed and they feared a similar disaster.

The scene of the blast was at Dartmouth on the eastern side of the harbor.

Couple Injured on Dayton Pike in Auto Accident

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Harshman Painfully Hurt Saturday Afternoon as Truck Hits Their Car Near Alpha—Ford Demolished.

Mrs. J. F. Harshman, of North King street, suffered severe cuts and probable slight internal injuries, and Mr. Harshman was badly bruised and shaken, when their Ford automobile was struck by a heavy truck, at the curve, in the Dayton pike near the residence of Dr. George Anderson at Alpha, Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Harshman were coming toward Xenia at the time of the accident and the truck was coming down the sharp incline and turn at that point going toward Dayton. According to Mr. Harshman he guided his machine to the right side of the road, and partly off the macadam.

"Apparently, the truck driver seemed to be unable to control his machine," said Mr. Harshman, "and he failed to keep it on the right side of the road in rounding the curve."

Mr. Harshman started to drive his machine into the center of the road to avoid the collision, when the right wheels of the machine, locked. The Ford was demolished.

Presence of mind of Mr. Harshman in holding Mrs. Harshman, thus preventing her from being thrown from the machine, and at the same time shielding her from glass from the windshield, is believed to have saved her life. She received three painful cuts on the left leg, and there are indications of slight internal injuries. Mr. Harshman received bruises and contusions.

According to Mr. Harshman, the road was wet following the rain and the truck was travelling at a good speed down the hill. Mr. Harshman said he was not travelling faster than eight miles an hour.

TWO-CENT STAMP TO CARRY LETTERS TO SOUTH AMERICA

Buenos Aires, September 12.—The United States will be able to use a two-cent postal rate to all South and Central American countries under the provisions of an article approved at a planetary session of the Pan-American Postal Congress. This article establishes as a fundamental principle the liberty of each country to fix its foreign postal rates, provided such rates are kept within a maximum equivalent to five cents in American gold.

The limit for Pan-American postage is defined in the article as "within the half of the equivalent in dollars of the maximum fixed by the United States Postal Congress at Madrid."

The maximum designated at Madrid was 50 cents. Thus the adoption of the article fixes the maximum Pan American postage at one-half of the European limit.

There was opposition to the adoption of the American dollar as the postal monetary unit, instead of the franc, which was proposed by Mexico, but the advocates of the dollar finally were successful.

Exchange of copies of newspapers and other periodicals published in Pan America is to be free of charge, under the provisions of another article adopted by the congress, which also extends the franking privilege to consular and diplomatic correspondence addressed to government.

The Postal Congress will continue plenary sessions next week. Parcel Post Service improvements and other plans which have been drawn up by the committees will be considered.

COMEDIAN IN JAIL

Bail Refused—District Attorney Will Attempt to Convict Fatty of Murder

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12 Roscoe Conklin Arbuckle, falstaff of the movies, today faced a charred of murder in open court.

Moving with unexpected swiftness, district Attorney Matthew Brady ordered Arbuckle's case placed on the court calendar for today.

He was scheduled for arraignment before Police Judge O'Brien.

Rallying to the support of the state in its efforts to convict the Falstaff of the movies, friends of Virginia Rappe, "most beautifully dressed woman in the movies" with whose murder Arbuckle stands charged, demanded that "justice be done." And in behalf of the "life of the party," as Arbuckle was known, not only in real life but in a recently enacted comedy, a great galaxy of legal talent was grimly battling for his freedom.

From District Attorney Matthew Brady came the formal statement:

"The evidence in my possession shows conclusively either that an assault or an attempted assault was perpetrated upon Miss Virginia Rappe by Roscoe C. Arbuckle. Section 189 of the penal code provides that the taking of a human life by any person in the commission of an assault or attempted assault is murder in the first degree.

"I desire to state that I will spare no effort to punish the perpetrator of this atrocious crime, although I know I will be opposed by the cleverest lawyers and the greatest influence which money can purchase.

Milton Cohen, Arbuckle's personal attorney, who is in charge of his defense, Frank Dominguez, noted Los Angeles criminal lawyer; Charles Brennan and former Judge Thomas P. White, local attorneys who have been retained, refused to comment upon Arbuckle's plight and upon their instructions Arbuckle's lips were locked. Upon written instructions from "Fatty" to the jailer, no one but his attorneys and his manager, Lou Anger, was admitted to his cell, and his case will be presented to the grand jury probably today.

The opposing forces in the case locked horns with the booking of Arbuckle on the murder charge shortly after midnight Sunday morning. Arbuckle had arrived here from Los Angeles in his custom-built automobile when he was intercepted on his way to the office of his local attorney by detectives who took him to the Hall of Justice. His attorney were allowed. Arbuckle was amazed. A charge of manslaughter had been anticipated by his attorney. A superior court judge had been requested to come to the Hall of Justice and $5,000 in hundred dollar bills was in readiness to bail Arbuckle.

Arbuckle talked freely with inmates of "Felons Row" where he occupied a cell. He quickly gained their approval Sunday by his democratic manners and they shared with him the soap, towels and combs. Saturday night he occupied a cell alone. Sunday night he asked for a cell mate and was allowed to make his own choice from the eighty other men occupying cells in the same tier. He chose Fred Martin. "It's too lonesome alone," Arbuckle told his jailers.

Much of his day Sunday was spent in conference with his counsel. He remarked to fellow prisoners:

"I've heard often of 'blue Sunday' but until today I never knew what it meant."

"MONEY DID IT." "So Roscoe is charged with murder, cannot but pity the poor boy. It was his money that did it. Too much money went to his head."

This was the statement of Mrs. Mollie Arbuckle, step mother of Roscoe Arbuckle, when she learned of the plight of the famous film comedian.

"He never had an education," Mrs. Arbuckle continued. "He never passed the fifth grade in school. I'm sorry for him but if he is guilty he should be punished. The crime, if such it was, is not to be excused."

Some time ago when Mrs. Arbuckle was sick, neighbors, against her will, wrote the film star and urged that he assist her. At that time he was quoted as saying "Mollie, I Arbuckle never gave me a meal." This statement hurt Mrs. Arbuckle more than the denial of aid.

LEHRMAN BITTER

New York, Sept. 12.—Henry Lehrman, motion picture producer and fiancé of Miss Virginia Rappe, for whose alleged murder "Fatty" Arbuckle film comedian, is held in San Francisco, was bitter today.

"This is what comes of taking vulgarism from the gutter and giving them enormous salaries and making idols of them," Arbuckle came into the picture nine years ago. He was a barber in a San Francisco saloon. He washed the dishes and cleaned the spittoons. Such people don't know how to get a 'kick' out of life except in a beastly way," Lehrman said.

The Habitual Flirt

WIVES WHO FAIL
BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

HE was a new woman in the crowd. One of the boys had introduced her, forewarning every mother's daughter in the set to look to her husband, to shackle him to her apron strings, or tie him to her bracelet—secure him somehow!

And then she picked out the nicest man in the lot—fortunately he was single—that every good, sensible, wifely sort of girl had secretly had her eye on for the past 10 years. She hadn't known him a week before she had shortened his dignified Dunbar to Dunny and was adding dear most of the time. She used to stare up at him in that Oh-you-wonderful-man way, and she had a clever little way of toying with the buttons on his coat and forgetting that she was doing it.

Before anyone knew it, she had married him—this nice bigdog-faithful man.

And he thought he was going to settle down and be so happy with his exquisite bit of feminine fluff.

But she had a different idea about the thing. Conquest was the sum of her ambition—and the pity of it was that it had become such a habit that she didn't know it herself.

With each new man friend her husband introduced her to, she began the same subtle flirtation. She didn't mean anything by it. It seemed perfectly natural that she should look at each one in his turn as though she loved him.

It seemed necessary to her happiness and a part of her routine that she seek fresh light from the fires of experience every now and then.

Verily it taxed her patience if men didn't kiss her—not because she wanted to be kissed, but simply because knowing that she was a temptation gave her a certain degree of pleasure.

Gradually her husband came to understand that she was just a flirt. He reached the place where he didn't care so much for himself, he had gotten beyond where the humiliation of it bothered him, and he wasn't jealous.

When chaperoning a party dining at a hotel or restaurant, signifying the time for rising from the table will depend upon you.

As host for a theater party you will pass down the aisle first but will stand aside and let your guests enter, taking the seat next the aisle or the last seat in the box yourself.

POINTED TOE SHOES

A chiropodist once told me that not one woman in a thousand had a beautiful foot. And when I rather gasped at that sweeping statement he said his books proved that hundreds of women came to him and he treated hundreds more at a clinic, and that in all the years of his work he had only met a few women whose feet were really beautiful.

"Some years ago it wasn't so bad," he said. "Then the woman of wealth kept her feet in good condition because she wore well-fitting shoes. Now the wealthy woman has uglier feet than her little kitchen maid. This is because she insists on following the fashions, which means to raise her foot upon a high heel and thrust the weight of her body forward to toes that are cramped into the narrow point of the shoe."

"The lines of modern smart shoes are all wrong. Instead of narrowing

WIGWAM WILL AMUSE THEM

Where is the childish heart which does not love an Indian game?

So tell them to play Wigwam Saturday mornings when time hangs heavy. Half of the little folk should be Indians and half of them white people. The Indians are given a few minutes to slip away and hide, leaving a trail of confetti corn husks or bits of paper. Each Indian goes a different way and the white men, of course, have a selected place to wait, in which they can't see where the Indians are going.

At the expiration of the time limit the white men set out after the Indians and the one who brought an Indian back first won the game.

Simple Remedies for That Coat of Tan Which Summer Left For You

By MME. MOREAU.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The whiteness and loveliness of your neck is going to be a big factor in your appearance soon. During the summer days when tennis and rowing are in order everyone expects a tinge of brown and a few freckles.

But not in winter with the evening frock!

All of the tan must vanish and the lines must be patted away! Resort to the old-fashioned remedy of a cucumber if you wish. Slice it and rub the sliced surface over your neck, letting the resultant dampness dry on the face. The acid whitens the skin and does not injure it. This will also remove freckles which are not too dark.

Milk is another simple remedy for tan. If there isn't any good cold cream near, take a soft cloth or your own soft hands and go over your neck with fresh milk. Leave it on for fifteen or twenty minutes and then wash it off with pure, lukewarm water.

A paste, which can be made at home and which results in a lively, white, velvety skin is one of cucumbers, sour cream and oatmeal. Mix one finely grated cucumber with one just enough oatmeal to form a paste which can be handled.

The paste should be put on quite thickly and left for three-quarters of an hour or more.

Styles
BY LENORE

—Paris.
All smart sleeves must lead to the wrist, says Paris. At the establishment of Jenny, one of the designers best known in America, I saw a rich brown crepe frock that had gotten itself a charming sleeve. This dif-ferred from what has become known as the "Jenny sleeve" in that it was not so wide at the armhole, but slashed at the top and gracefully flowing about the wrist. This I have illustrated at the top of the sketch.

In the center is a suggestion for a tight sleeve, copied from a Berners cloth frock, and the remarkably graceful sleeve below that I saw on an afternoon frock whose skirt was made of two rectangular pieces of material, with the loose edges meeting in softly cascading folds at the sides. Two satin ribbon sashes knotted over the hips formed the attractive girdle.

KEEP BUSY

The more I see of idleness the more I am convinced that it is the beginning of about everything that is to be avoided.

The idle person is absolutely useless. More so to himself than any body else.

To have something to do is the natural way toward the normal life. Even though some may not accomplish as much as others, the fact that something is being done is the saving that is sure to bring some measure of happiness and success.

Keep busy! Everything disintegrates in disuse. The engine rusts. The house crumbles. The brain grows fat and dull. The body loses its resiliency and its functions rebel.

Out of my window at this moment I see hundreds of men and women sitting on park benches. I see the picture of wasted effort. Even the sun is warming and brightening the grass and flowers. For Nature is always busy—giving.

I have great sympathy for the one out of a job. But none for the one who will not hunt for one.

There is so much to do in the world. And there are thousands of unmade jobs waiting for competent holders of them.

I have in mind a young man who went to a large publishing house and asked for a job. They told him they had nothing for him. He looked the manager in the face and said: "Then MAKE a job for me!" The manager looked him in the face seriously then—and decided that it best to take up with the suggestion. The last I heard of this man was that he was at the head of a big magazine earning a salary running into five figures.

There is a writer in my town who goes about the streets with his pockets bulging with books. He does not make what they call "big money" but he earns an honest living and I am honored by his association for I always take something away from his richly stored mind.

Keep busy! "Lost is that day, from whose descending Sun Sees from thy hand no worthy action done!"

Don't Waste Tomato

BY SISTER MARY

HE ways in which you can use this year's abundance of tomatoes are many. Home-made catsup and chili sauce are always a welcome addition to the winter meal.

TOMATO CATSUP

One-half bushel tomatoes, 4 onions, 4 tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon red pepper, 2 tablespoons mustard, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons stick cinnamon broken in pieces, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed.

Wash tomatoes and cut out cores. Cut in pieces and put in preserving kettle with onions cut in slices. Boil 20 minutes and rub through a sieve. Put juice in kettle and boil down about one-third. Add spices tied in a cheesecloth bag, sugar, salt, peppers, vinegar and mustard. Spoon ground mustard 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1-3 tablespoon cayenne pepper 2 pounds sugar, 1-4 pound mustard seed.

Wash tomatoes. Pour over scalding water, slip skins and cut in slices. Peel and cut onions in thin slices. Put onions and tomatoes in a crock and sprinkle with salt and let them stand twenty-four hours. Drain off the juice. Put onions and tomatoes in preserving kettle, add vinegar and spices. Cook slowly for two hours. Add sugar and mustard seed and cook forty-five minutes longer. Put in cans and seal or keep in a covered gallon crock.

CHILI SAUCE

Eighteen tomatoes, 6 onions, 6 stalks celery, 4 green peppers, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups vinegar, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 3 tablespoons salt.

Wash tomatoes. Scald and slip skins. Peel onions, remove seeds from peppers. Put celery, peppers and onions through food chopper. Put tomatoes cut in piece, peppers, onions and celery in preserving kettle bring to boiling point and boil ten minutes. Add sugar, vinegar, and spices. Cook until thick. Bottle and seal. Chili sauce is much easier to make than catsup and may be used in place of catsup in many instances.

TOMATO CHUTNEY

LET THEM PLAY
DEERFOOT

When you give the last outdoor party for the little folks this fall and you've exhausted very idea for games, fall back on Deerfoot. It's rompy enough to be fun and is such a very little bit of trouble.

Each player is a different kind of deer; reindeer, elk, moose, red deer, antelope fawn and so on. For the forest, unless you have real trees and enough for all except one of the players, you must put little sticks in the ground which will be called trees.

An extra deer stands in the middle of the forest. A leader is chosen and all follow him, lightly skipping around the forest until suddenly the deer in the center calls "Deerfoot."

Then each deer, including the one in the center must find a tree. The one who fails must take the center of the forest for the next game and the one who has been in the center and found a tree becomes the leader.

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN SPIKER ROMANCE IS NOW WRITTEN

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—Another chapter was written today in the internationally famous romance of a young English war mother, an errant husband, a forgiving wife and the brother who offered himself on the altar of matrimony, seeking to right a wrong and gave abode to the former sweetheart of his kin. It became known that Mrs. Emily Knowles Spiker, wife of Guy S. Spiker of this city and mother of the now nearly 2-year-old son of Pearl Spiker, her husband's brother, is missing from her home. There is no trace of her whereabouts, although she is believed to be still in Baltimore.

It is said that Mrs. Spiker fled from her east Baltimore home several weeks ago leaving a note informing her husband that she no longer cared for him and according to friends of Guy Spiker there is little likelihood of a reconciliation should the wife be located. It is also said that another note to Spiker advised him to seek a divorce and telling him to send his answer general delivery.

At any rate the little home in east Baltimore is broken up, the furniture has been sent back to the store from which it was purchased and while he is reported as being heartbroken, Guy Spiker is quoted today as saying: "She went of her own will, and she can stay."

DEMONSTRATIONS OF SELECTION OF SEED CORN HELD

"Every township farm bureau in outlining the program of work for this year decided that the matter of field selection of seed corn should be brought to the attention of their farmers," Prince said.

"This especially true because the disease which we call corn root rot can best be controlled by selecting seed corn from the standing stalk in the field, before the stalk dies."

"Consequently we have arranged for the following demonstrations: Miami Township, Matt. Birtle, Wednesday, Sept. 14, 9:30 a. m.; Beaver Creek, Fred Hawker, Wednesday, Sept. 14, 2:30 p. m.; Bath, H. M. ## JAPAN'S TREATMENT OF KOREA.

When one undertakes to discuss the Korean situation he finds himself confronted by a task by no means easy. There are at least four viewpoints from which conditions are studied. That of the Japanese, the Korean, the missionary, and the tourist. All state facts and each one seems to be correct in his views. It will be the purpose of this article to give some of the facts gathered by a short visit among the people and allow the reader largely to draw his own conclusion. The population of Korea is approximately 17,000,000, while in area the country is but a little larger than our state of Kansas. It is almost beyond belief that a people tucked in as closely between two other nations, as Korea is related to China on the one hand and Japan on the other, could be so entirely different. In habits, customs, dress and language they are as diverse as if they existed on opposite sides of the globe. The beginnings of the little nation are lost in the long and distant past.

Not until thirty-six years ago was any progress made by the Christian missionary. Twenty-two years ago there were 200 Christians in Korea; today there are 88,000 communicants and 184,000 in the Sabbath schools. Schools for young men and women, colleges, hospitals, Bible institutes, etc., have sprung up all over the country. Much can justly be said about the response of the Korean people to the claims of the gospel. The denominations doing mission work in the field should be greatly encouraged by the growth and manifest interest.

Seoul, the capital of Korea, is beautifully located, with activity on every hand. The Imperial hotel is a magnificent structure and stands on the site of the Temple of Heaven. A part of the old temple still stands at the rear of the hotel, doubtless to mark the passing of the old and the persistent incoming of the new.

In "The Korean Situation" the Commission on Relations with the Orient writes as follows: "No more remarkable revolution has taken place in recent history than that which occurred in Korea beginning March 1, 1919. The plan was to secure independence by moral force, without resort to violence. The passive part of the program was carried out with extraordinary success. The thirty-three signers of the Declaration of Independence notified the Japanese police of their act and of the place where they might be found and arrested. For two months large gatherings of Koreans assembled in hundreds of towns and villages to shout 'Mansei'—Independence for Korea for ten thousand years. Though fired upon by the Japanese police, sabred, bayoneted, arrested, beaten, tortured, and punished by court judgments, the persistence of the movement has been phenomenal, and the slight retaliation by the Koreans has been amazing."

A summary of the latest statistics indicates that during the revolution nine Japanese policemen were killed and 186 wounded by Koreans. 631 Koreans were killed and 1,409 wounded by Japanese officials. 28,934 Koreans were arrested, 5,156 sent to prison and 1,514 flogged by order of the court and set free. Some 41 churches were totally or partly destroyed by fire and 209 government offices and buildings. Many of the revolutionary leaders are still in prison and the conduct of the people is closely watched.

By S. B. CONGER.

Special Cable Dispatch—Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co. Samara, in the Russian Famine Area, Sept. 1, via Riga, Sept. 6.—There are two chief centers of famine and misery in Samara, as in all the principal towns of the Volga region—the reception stations where abandoned or lost children of fugitives from starvation are collected from the streets and given at least the shelter of a roof, and the fugitive encampments along the river or at the railroad stations, where organized or unorganized emigrants are herded awaiting an opportunity to proceed on their wanderings. The following is a bald, unvarnished account of actual observations at those places today:

Reception Station No. 5, one of the seven in Samara, is a ramshackle building with broken windows and containing improvised beds, but otherwise unfurnished. It contained in a room 50 by 100 feet sixty-nine children, three to eight years old, clothed just as when picked up in the streets, some with nothing but a shirt, others with a shirt and cap, and the remainder with slightly greater stridings toward conventional attire. All were hungry, some with hunger of a few days' duration. The most of them, showing plain evidences of having traversed the path of starvation for weeks, were now gray, listless and emaciated. One room in the drafty building housed cases of contagious diseases, mainly typhus. They lay on rough beds, knocked together on boards, each covered with a single blanket. A physician visited them daily, but the term medical care would be a misnomer, because no medicaments are available and there is little pretense at isolation. In an adjoining room were about double the number of patients with non-contagious diseases.

Starvation Is Their Disease.

"The doctor gives various names to the ailments," said the director of the institution, "but there is really only one disease, starvation."

The rest of the children were collected in other rooms or gathered in the sunshine of the courtyard. None of them had been disinfected or deloused. No bathing facilities were available, owing to inability to secure wood with which to heat water. Here is what the pitiful tots, sixty-nine of whom were officially rated as sick and all of whom are in urgent need of proper food for the sick, have to eat daily: A quarter of a pound of heavy rye bread, a basin of thin fish soup and, once this week, a little meat. There is no milk, cocoa or any other strengthening food which they need.

The institution is intended only as a collecting point whence the children will be transferred to regular children's homes, but though there are thirty or forty new arrivals daily only a few as yet have been removed. A new column of thirty-nine arrived while I was there, many weeping bitterly for their lost parents, but others suffered their lot with a phlegmatic listlessness, chiefly interested in the prospect of getting something to eat. I listened while they were rapidly registered. The attendant took down their names and ages, but no questions were asked regarding their parentage or homes, such attempts at identification having evidently been abandoned as hopeless. The new arrivals were kept together to await inspection by a doctor to sort out those with communicable diseases and serious maladies. The Hoover organization can find these institutions and immediate field for relief while awaiting later investigations.

Patiently Await Vague Fate.

The fugitive stations on the Volga quays and at the railroad stations contain officially 15,000 persons, many of whom have been waiting three weeks to a month for transportation farther

SO ENDETH THE VACATION

on. Most of them expect vaguely to go to Siberia to new homes. A small proportion of them are on the organized rolls and receive a little ration varying, according to their accounts, from an eighth to a quarter of a pound of bread daily. The others, thrown on their own resources, are selling today the last clothes from their bodies to buy food from the speculators at the markets which have sprung up about all these encampments. Most of the refugees have been there so long they have lost all hope of further progress, "except," as they repeatedly said, "to the graveyard."

A large proportion of the fugitives along the river banks are descendants of the once prosperous German colonists who settled almost two centuries ago in Russia. They hitherto have weathered all storms of famine and war, but this year has finished them. Three-quarters of the Germans abandoned prosperous farms, sold what little they had and are trekking toward Siberia.

Rubber showed a deficit the market had fairly discounted the contents of the statement and the stock has been strengthened rather than reduced by the announcement.

Another German Payment

Germany's payment of $150,000,000 additional in gold marks, on August 31, shows that that country is at length applying itself to the task of meeting the reparations requirements. It is a natural consequence of this settlement that there should be an up ward movement in sterling and franc, but such fluctuations are probably temporary. The arrival of some important British and French maturities in the near future, as well as the apparent fact that both English and the Continental countries will have to import heavily of our staples during the coming two or three months, necessitates a strong demand for dollars which, in the absence of some exceptional influences, should tend to raise the value of American currency relatively to that of foreign countries at least a degree. The continuation of heavy imports of gold into the United States has now brought the estimated net gain of that metal for the first eight months of the year up to near $500,000,000. This, while it emphasizes the reserve strength of our banking system, tends to increase the difficulty of a restoration of normal trade conditions. According to a statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of this city, loans of the Federal Reserve Banks declined more rapidly in July than in any previous month since the maximum of credit expansion was reached last year.

Market Review and Outlook

Better demand for most classes of shares has prevailed throughout the week. The prevalence of higher prices was partly due to short covering, but was also in part the result of a genuine feeling of hopefulness with regard to the future. Values are low, but unfortunately buyers continue scarce. On the speculative side of the market there has been no particular change in conditions except that an over-extended short interest has been somewhat reduced. The bear account is still sufficiently large to make it vulnerable should the demand for stocks undergo any appreciable increase. There is renewed demand for bonds. New issues are easily absorbed and even the floating supply of old issues is being taken up by investors who feel that with comparatively easy money assured for a long time ahead no better opportunity than the present will be afforded for investing safely and at the same time getting large returns. A demand for bonds is usually the prelude to increased inquiry for the shares of strong railroad and industrial corporations.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

Some fine peaches are being received by Xenia merchants from the Ross county orchards. The C. H. & D. railroad has been handling some heavy shipments and several large truckloads are being unloaded here each morning.

Dr. W. A. Galloway has gone to Cleveland, joining his wife who left for that city the first of the week.

The friends of the Xenia Theological Seminary are greatly pleased over the outlook for the institution for the coming year. Dr. Joseph Kyle stated today that if all the prospective students who have signified their intention to enter the seminary do so, the freshman class will be the largest in several years.

The members of the Court House Building Commission, Messrs. Stevenson, Fudge, Wickersham, Barber and Little returned last night from their trip of investigation as to furnishings for the new Court House, Chicago, Ft. Wayne and Detroit furnished them with a fine field for the examination of furnishings suitable for the new building.

HENRY CLEWS

Weekly Financial Review

President Harding's call for a conference on unemployment is expected to furnish the occasion for a general consideration of business conditions. The announcement that controversial issues would be barred may prevent discussion of some of the most debatable matters, such as tariff and tax policy, but a review of the general business outlook and the prospects for revival of industry must of course constitute the staple of debate on the occasion. Although there have been many extreme reports on unemployment, careful examination of the conditions during August seem to show that there has been but little change and that little for the better.

Hopeful Indications

There are, in fact, an increasing number of hopeful indications from day to day. Chief among these continues to be the much better net revenues of the railroads. It would seem likely that the July improvement over last year would hardly be less than $75,000,000; and while for the half year the net income is by no means up to the 6 per cent level of profit named in the Transportation Act, it is so much better than had been feared that the railroad issues have been able to maintain themselves quite well. Favorable also as an index of business conditions is the steady and early movement of many crops to market at remunerative prices. Cotton, of course continues the exception as to yield, the Government report on September 1 pointing to a crop of little more than 7,000,000 bales. The early marketing movement has been furthered by the belief that farm prices as a whole will not advance very greatly, while producers are naturally desirous of getting funds with which to liquidate back debts; but, whatever the cause, it naturally facilitates the restoration of buying power and curtails the burden of credit strain many lines is still excellent.

The Traction Disappointment

Disclosure of the fact that the Interboro owes about $3,000,000 in unpaid obligations and has been negotiating for the extension of its $38,000,000 notes maturing September 1, was not surprising to those who have been close to the traction situation but gave an unpleasant shock to the rank and file of investors. The sharp fall in the price of Interboro securities was under these conditions to be expected. With a very large majority of the notes deposited under an extension agreement, however, and the comparatively small amount due creditors, there is a good reason for believing that a receivership will be avoided especially as with lower operating costs the traction companies are now making a much more creditable showing.

Problems of Industrial Issues

While visiting President Obregon a delegation of American business men representing oil companies interested in the Mexican oil wells now are assured of some relaxation in the unfavorable tax conditions established by past governments in that country. The effect of the visit has therefore been to improve the market position of the oils and of shares affiliated with them at the same time that the decision of the Mexican Supreme Court is adverse to the retroactive provision of article 27 of the Mexican Constitution. This improvement has extended itself to other departments of the market and the increase in value resulting from it has thus been considerably broadened. Industrial reports concerning the petroleum situation show an improvement in both demand and in price. Rather better conditions in the copper fields have likewise helped the value of shares in that department and there is a good expectation of improvement in their export position within the near future. Although the statement of United States

THE RAILWAY CROSSING.

He reached the railway crossing the same time as the train; I saw the engine tossing his auto o'er the plain; an epitaph engrossing was placed above the slain. With buckets and valises the undertakers came, and gathered up the pieces of his poor mortal frame, the while his weeping nieces declared it was a shame. He speeded up his lizzie, and tried to beat the train; his speed was surely dizzy, and certainly insane; why be so all-fired busy, when all such haste is vain? He had all week to travel to Junktown-in-the-Hole; but he must scorch the gravel, the poor, misguided soul; and now no druggist's salve'll restore this Peter Pole. "Oh, stop, and look, and listen," the railway sign-board said; he saw the wise words glisten, in fresh paint, just ahead, and he worked every piston, and to the crossing sped. They scraped him from the cedars, they raked him from the plain; the public prints had leaders, that showed his course was vain, a warning to all speeders who try to beat the train. Alas, for poor old Peter! Much grief my spirit feels; and as I townward teeter, no more he rips and reels to show his lizzie's fleetness than any-thing on wheels.

NO ADVANCE IN ADMISSION

JAPANESE ROYAL PRECEDENTS MAY BE SMASHED ON VISIT OF PRINCE OF WALES

Washington. — When President Harding wishes to visit the theater as he does from time to time, he mentions the fact to the White House head usher a few hours in advance and the head usher telephones the manager of the theatre to make sure the Presidential box is reserved. The Secret Service is also notified, in order that operatives may be stationed in various parts of the audience, a precaution never neglected since the fatal shooting of Abraham Lincoln in the old Ford Theatre here.

At first sight this seems a bit complicated, but in reality it is as simple so far as the President himself is concerned, as when Bill Jones or John Doe go to the movies. There is no long-drawn-out discussion as to the propriety of the visit or the effect it may have upon the country at large and the President and Mrs. Harding have been known to decide upon a theatre party only a few hours in advance of the event.

In Japan matters are not so simple. There are suggestions that the Japanese Crown Prince might entertain the Prince of Wales when he arrives here next spring by taking him to the theatre has aroused a controversy which is spreading throughout the Empire. For a member of the Imperial household to visit a theatre frequented by ordinary human beings is absolutely unprecedented, and a not inconsiderable portion of the more conservative Japanese are scandalized at the thought of such a thing according to diplomatic reports received in Washington.

Nevertheless, there is undoubtedly a large liberal element, including some powerful liberal leaders and a few of the more conservative, who are eager to see some of the old barriers between the Imperial household and the people broken down. Indeed, according to a statement attributed to an officer of the household one of the motives for the European tour of the Crown Prince Hirohito was to enable him to observe the relations between the royalty of Europe and their subjects.

So far has the talk of entertainment of the Prince of Wales proceeded that theatrical managers in the Japanese capital are already eyeing with each other as to whether they will have the privilege of being the first to entertain any member of the Japanese Imperial family, and at the same time provide amusement for the future King of England.

The plan to make a visit to some Tokyo theatre a part of the Prince of Wales' entertainment was suggested partly because of the fact that the same sort of entertainment was provided for the Crown Prince of Japan in London. The influential newspaper Yomiuri, commenting on the decision of the Department of the Imperial Household to give consideration to such a programme, recalls the fact that several years ago when the National Literary Society was founded in Tokyo, with Takejiri Tokonami, the Home Ministry at its head, it was planned to have some Imperial person visit the theatre, but the widespread objections made the scheme impossible.

Under the Japanese theory a theatre, where the Emperor visits would have to be regarded as an extension of the Imperial household. Sanitary and police precautions must be taken on the responsibility of the authorities of the Imperial Household Department.

In addition there is the all-important matter of precedent. No Imperial personage ever before in the history of Japan visited a theatre publicly. Breaking this precedent is regarded as a most serious matter.

If the British heir should visit a theatre the Japanese Crown Prince would have to accompany his guest. Possibly the Empress would also be a member of the party. Widely ramifying complications are expected as a result of this record-breaking innovation in the affairs of the Imperial household.

When Prince Arthur of Connaught visited the Kabukize, 40,000 yen or more was spent in fitting up the theatre for his reception. If the British heir is to visit a Japanese theatre, the consensus of opinion the most likely to be selected. On account of the competition among theatrical managers for the honor, the authorities are keeping all their plans and preparations secret.

WILL NOT PROTEST PROPOSED MERGER OF PHONE COMPANIES

There will be no protest by City Solicitor J. A. Finney of the proposed merger of the Bell and Citizens telephone companies, it was stated by Mr. Finney Saturday.

The Solicitor referred to the action taken by City Attorney Leach, of Columbus, who is protecting the merger on the grounds that it will abrogate the right of the city of Columbus to force compliance with provisions granted in the franchises to the two companies and result in monopoly by the Bell company of the telephone business.

Mr. Finney said that nothing could be gained by a similar protest on the part of the local legal department of the city government and that no such protest would be filed with the State Utilities Commission, which has the question of merger to decide. Mr. Finney will keep in touch with the movements in other cities however, and will take advantage of what ever points are gained by other municipalities.

The Columbus attorney brands the 4-1-2 per cent contract charge of the American Telephone and Telegraph company as unfair and a means of mulcting the people for an unfair amount of profit, since that charge is applicable to the gross revenue of the companies taken in under the merger. This charge, it is said, is made by the American Telephone and Telegraph company to cover research costs royalties on interest and similar charges. It is said the purpose of the contract clause is to circumvent various state laws and secure to the company a greater percentage of profit than might ordinarily be allowed but that the state utilities commission is fully aware of that fact and there is nothing the citizens can do.

F. A. Reed, vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, one party to the merger, said before the Public Utilities Commission Thursday that there is a demand on the part of the public for the elimination of dual telephone service, that a great deal has already been accomplished along this line under the public utilities act, that the public will be greatly benefited by unification of service and that the consolidation if approved will be effected as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Reed states that sentiment favoring the merger which has been expressed by patrons, is partly due to the fact that subscribers now rent two telephones, will henceforth have to have but one, at a lower rental, and that at the same time they will be able to reach all of the subscribers now reached by both companies. He said that the rates to be asked after the consolidation would only be sufficient to pay operating expenses and insure a fair rate of profit to the company.

Testimony introduced at the meeting Thursday, showed the two companies have property in 81 of the 88 counties and dual local service is furnished at 30 points. The Ohio Bell operates in 73 counties, comprising 76 exchanges, 303,746 stations, 3,972 miles of toll pole lines and 43,330 miles of toll wire. The Ohio State operates in 74 counties, has 85 exchanges, 143,059 stations, 2,750 miles of toll pole lines and 35,256 miles of toll wire.

CANNING ABOUT TO FINISH PACK

Washington, C. The pack of the Fayette plant is around 1,000,000 cans.

O. E. COMPANY NOW UNDER CONTROL OF I. C. AND E. FIRM

Urbana, Sept. 12.—Few Urbana people realize that the Ohio Electric railway no longer goes through this city, but such is the case. As was announced several months ago, the Ohio Electric lines in this city are now owned by the Indiana, Columbus and Eastern railway company.

The following explanation shows the present condition of the interurban lines in this section of the state at the present time: The Ohio Electric company now controls nothing except the lines from Lima to Toledo and the Lima City lines. The lines from Columbus to Zanesville, Columbus to Newark, Columbus to Dayton, Springfield to Lima were also formerly under the control of the Ohio Electric and 450 miles of track was leased from the Indiana, Columbus and Eastern railway.

The Ohio Electric did not fulfill the terms of the lease it is understood, and the I. C. & E. asked for the appointment of receivers, J. H. McClure was appointed receiver for that portion which includes the lines from Columbus to Dayton, Columbus to Zanesville, Columbus to Newark and Springfield to Lima.

The I. C. & E. is now operating the lines through this city and it is for this reason that the city can now use here bears the name I. C. E.

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

Columbus, Sept. 10.—"Governor's Place" is the name of a new stop on the Long Street car line. City council authorized use of the name because the stop is near the governor's mansion which fronts on East Broad street. The action of the municipal solons is in accord with a petition signed by all the property owners in Champion avenue, between Broad and Long, who favor designating that section of the avenue "Governor's Place."

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger expresses what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me."

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up, I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least."

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Sixties' who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have physical ailments, to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill, and by leading druggists everywhere.

ANTIOCH'S PLAN AIMS TO BRING EVERY STUDENT INTO SOME FORM OF ATHLETICS

To bring every student into some form of athletic activity and physical development is the plan of Earl E. Prugh, director of athletics at Antioch College, Yellow Springs.

It will be the endeavor of Mr. Prugh to have some phase of athletic activity to suit all students so that the benefits of physical training at the school will not be confined to a comparative few.

"We want to see athletics used to broaden out the education of the individual and not so much to show off any prowess," says Prugh. "When students go out from Antioch we want them to continue in athletics or the physical program which we teach them here. Remember that each student who comes here will have a physical examination. Then these students will be divided into A, B, C, and D divisions and grouped in their physical program, according to the athletics that best suits them. As each group improves, it will be advanced in the health schedule."

Under the co-operative system of working five weeks and going to school five weeks, Mr. Prugh is of the belief that it will be difficult to develop representative football or baseball teams for inter-collegiate competition. However, preliminary football practice is being held, with four teams out, and it is the plan for each division to have a football team to compete with each other and with other colleges.

Boxing and wrestling will also be taken up at Antioch and inter-collegiate matches in these sports will be encouraged. Baseball teams will be organized not only to play with other college teams but with industrial teams, it being the belief of the athletic director that it will be good for students to rub elbows with men by whose sides they work in the industrial world. Track work will also be taken up in the spring.

Activities for the girls include tennis tournaments, which are now being arranged, the first to begin September 19, field hockey, indoor baseball and basketball, volleyball, hiking and important apparatus work in the gymnasium. All activities will be held out of doors until the weather becomes inclement.

Three new tennis courts are being prepared for use in addition to the one already in use on the campus. Mr. Prugh says he hopes to interest girls of near-by colleges in inter-collegiate hockey.

Mr. Prugh is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and of Columbia University and was formerly in charge of athletics at Wittenberg College, Springfield, and later located at Troy high school as principal and coach until he came to Antioch. He is also a registered Ohio Conference official.

TAKE NEXT TRAIN TO GET MARRIED

Washington, C. H., Sept. 12.—Folks who live in Sabina must get their marriage licenses in Wilmington, because of the fact that Sabina is in Clinton County, instead of Fayette. It was again explained to two aspirants to wedlock by Judge Gregg of the Probate Court last week.

The two young people, and they did seem young, although the prospective bride confided to the Judge that she was past eighteen, made their application for the permit in the usual manner and everything went well until the place of residence of the girl was inquired.

Keen disappointment was registered while the Judge said they must go to Wilmington. The couple explained that they had come over on the morning train. After ascertaining the time of the departure for the next train west, they left for the county seat of Clinton county.

And remember this! Camels come in one size package only—20 cigarettes—just the right size to make the greatest saving in production and packing. This saving goes straight into Camel Quality. That's one reason why you can get Camel Quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. We put no useless frills on the Camel package. No "extra wrappers!" Nothing just for show!

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And their added cost must go onto the price or come out of the quality.

One thing—and one only—is responsible for Camels great and growing popularity—

That is CAMEL QUALITY.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS

My idea of teaching a player would be to give him large, general ideas, and then to let him practice and let him adapt them to his individual peculiarities. The commonest errors are the violation of the general or the fundamental idea of golf stroke. I was watching a man swing the other day and the arc described by his club was impossible from a golfing standpoint. The upstroke and down-stroke should be along the same lines, at least, for the sake of smoothness.

A thing for every golfer to avoid as he would the plague is tension. Any stiffness is bound to be disastrous, for it is impossible to strike the crisp blow with tight muscles. The lexicon of golfers the word RELAX should be written over and over again in shining letters.

Football is a fighting game with tense muscles; golf is a game of individual skill, demanding relaxed muscles and rhythmic movements.

It is supposed that the commonest of all the errors so painfully common to golf is failing to keep one's eyes on the ball or the equivalent, moving one's head in the act of making a stroke. Important as these admonitions may be, there are numerous other things to be avoided in the game of golf. Indeed following every direction for playing a shot might be a table setting forth the errors to be avoided in the making of that particular shot for it is not sufficient to tell a man what to do. He must also be told what he must not do.

A very common error is selecting the wrong club for the work it is expected to do. It is generally believed that each club works normally within a certain range, and we speak of a masbie distance and so on. Use a proper club for the proper work. The driver is for the greatest distance, the brassie next and the irons go down gradually diminishing scale. Sometimes the player can manage to make a short distance club do long distance work but it is a self-deceptive habit and not at all to be advised.

An only too common fault in making a golf swing is swinging the body instead of the club. The body should be turned at the waist and the clubhead should be swung.

Another very common error is dipping the clubhead below the shoulders that is overwinging. Hitting the ball prematurely before we are comfortably set is another mistake we are likely to make.

Another thing to avoid is playing too much off the left foot, and care must be taken not to crouch over the ball too much. Of course, one must be somewhat bent, but it is a case in which judgment must be used. Gripping the club in the palms instead of the fingers I consider a very serious mistake for golf is a game of touch and that sense lies in the fingers; it is an extremely difficult thing to place a shot with a palm grip.

DINNER STORIES

Lecturer (recapitulating): "Yes, my friends, in China human life is considered of very little value. Indeed, if a wealthy Chinaman is condemned to death he can easily hire another to die for him. In fact, many poor fellows get their living by acting as substitutes."

"North says he hasn't taken a drink for two months."

"But I thought he laid in a good cellarful."

"He did, but he says he can't enjoy drinking it for worrying about what he'll do when it's all gone!"

A movie comedian, grease paint and mirror in hand, leaned through his dressing-room door to catch the full weight of the conversation going on below. It appeared that several colored parties were discussing the acute housing situation.

"Am it hard for people with children to rent an apartment?" asked a newcomer.

"Ah should say not," was the answer. "It an dead easy an simple. All yo' gotta do is chloroform de landlord."

There was an occasion when James Whistler, the famous artist, accused J. Comyns Carr, the brilliant wit, dramatist and art critic, of making a joke at the expense of a certain friend.

"Well," replied Carr, "I can make a friend most days, but I can only make a good joke now and then."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Whistler. "I wish I had said that myself!"

"Never mind, Jimmy, you will," retorted Carr.

"Well, sir," said the bartender in one of the few remaining wet towns. "What will you have?"

"A Scotch highball," said the stranger, as he looked about him in a dazed way. "I've been living for years in a dry town."

"I suspected that, sir."

"Yes, yes. How all this carries me back! Ex—as a personal favor to me will you spill a little beer on the bar and put my change in it?"

"Didn't you tell me that we could always find some place around here that's cool?" inquired the summer boarder.

"I did," answered Farmer Corn-tassel; "and I never misrepresent. There is such a place, only I can't keep it open all the time."

"Whereabouts?"

"In the icehouse."

"Will you allow me to step into your office a moment?" said the man who was buying a quantity of gasoline at a service station.

"Why, certainly," replied the gasoline merchant. "You look upset. Anything wrong?"

"Nothing particularly. I noticed my grocer coming down the street. I'm three months behind with my bill, and I lack the gall of some people. I can't snap my fingers at my grocer and go right on indulging in a luxury I can't afford."

"How did you get on?"

The sweet maiden breathed the words into her lover's manly ear as she met him in the passage. He had been "seeing father" and she wanted to know the result.

"Oh, your father is heartless," said the young man. "I—I told him I could not live without you, and—"

"Yes, yes!" impatiently. "What did he say?"

"He merely offered to pay my funeral expenses."

On a certain occasion Prof. Brander Matthews of Columbia University, speaking jokingly of his age, said he trusted that he was not so old that the students could play on him the trick he once saw tried on a senior professor in his own college days.

"Prof. Blank," he said, "was our most venerable instructor, and he could be just a trifle irritable at times. Once, noticing that a member of his class who sat right under his eye never took any notes or paid the slightest attention to his lectures, he stopped abruptly and demanded:

"See here, young man, what do you mean by coming into my classroom day after day and never taking notes?"

"I have my father's," was the student's complacent reply."

"Ferdie flitted Maud and married another girl, but Maud had her revenge."

"How?"

"She sent the bride a book to read on their honeymoon—Stevenson's Travels with a Donkey."

They had at last obtained a villa in a suburb of London, and he was hanging the pictures. There was a certain photograph of his wife which he decided must go up, but which was too small to suspend from the wall by a cord. He there-upon got a substantial nail and hammered it into the wall. There came a knock at the door, and "It's Mr. Nixdoor," said his wife, running to the window. "Your hammering has disturbed him." Mr. Nixdoor hastened to apologize.

"Oh, I don't mind the noise," replied Mr. Nixdoor, cheerily. "I only came to ask if I might hang a picture on the other end of the nail."

BIBLE READING IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS IS W. C. T. U. PROGRAM

San Francisco.—Far from considering the work completed with the realization of the dream for which they worked a half century—nation-wide prohibition—the Women's Christian Temperance Union at its national convention recently ended here embarked upon a program more ambitious and constructive than would have been considered possible by the early leaders of the movement.

So elaborate is the program that the national executive committee recommended as necessary to carry it out the following steps:

1. Membership campaign with the goal of a million members by 1924.

2. The completion of a Jubilee Fund of $1,000,000.

3. A nation-wide observance of November 11, Armistice Day as a day of prayer for world disarmament and January 16, National Prohibition Day, with great meetings for law enforcement.

Here is the program that the union has set itself to carry out:

1. To promote total abstinence by scientific investigation; instruction in schools and colleges; by pledge signing (a) in the Sunday Schools; (b) in people's societies (c) the general public.

2. To secure the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment by the study of Federal and State enforcement law, by creating public sentiment in favor of prohibition and by the election of officials who will impartially administer the law.

3. To educate citizens that in the exercise of their suffrage they may promote and secure righteous legislation.

4. To educate the foreign born, teaching English as the necessary avenue through which to promote American ideals and interpret prohibition.

5. To promote personal purity as the basis of a single standard of morals.

6. To physically develop, morally safeguard and spiritually train the child.

7. To stimulate Bible study, and through prayer and consecration deepen religious experience.

8. To secure the reading of the Bible in the public schools.

9. To carry the gospel message through meetings, music and flowers to the lonely, sick and neglected.

10. To bring before the missionary societies the salient facts of the relation of temperance and missions.

11. To co-operate with women in industry through education and in securing adequate legislation and to interest them in W. C. T. U.

NEW BARN AT PRISON FARM TO BE ABANDONED

London, O., Sept. 12.—No new dairy barn will be erected at the new prison site here to replace the one recently destroyed by fire and only enough milk cows to supply the demand of the institution will hereafter be maintained there. For several years the entire milk supply of the state institutions located at Columbus has come from the London farm but immediately after the fire the dairy barn was destroyed by flames the cattle were distributed between the boys' industrial school at Lancaster and the state hospital for the insane at Toledo.

Director of Welfare MacAyeal has decided to begin at once the erection of a new horse barn at London but decided that the rebuilding of the dairy barn at a cost of approximately $40,000 was not practical at this time. Work on the new horse barn, which will cost less than half that of the dairy barn will begin at once.

FOUNDATION GIFTS BIG; MILLIONS ARE SPENT ON WORK

NEW YORK.—The Rockefeller Foundation spent over $7,000,000 on public health measures in 1920, its annual health report published here today shows:

The Foundation's chief work was in preventive medicine and in worldwide fights against malaria, yellow fever and the hookworm.

Following is a summary, compiled by George E. Vincent, president of the Foundation, of the work done during the year.

Aided six medical schools in Canada. Gave a large sum to a medical training center in London. Appropriated a million francs for the Queen Elizabeth Foundation for Medical Research in Belgium.

Agreed to contribute toward the complete rebuilding of the medical school of the University of Brussels. Provided American and English medical journals or laboratory supplies for eleven medical schools and medical libraries in five European countries.

Continued to construct and to maintain in Peking, China, a modern medical school with a pre-medical department. Aided thirty-one hospitals in China to increase their efficiency in the care of patients and in the further training of doctors and nurses. Supported the School of Hygiene and Public Health of the Johns Hopkins University. Contributed to the teaching of hygiene in the medical school at Sao Paulo, Brazil. Provided fellowship in public health and medical education for ninety individuals who represented thirteen different countries.

Brought to the United States commissions of medical teachers and hygienists from England, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Continued to support a campaign against yellow fever in South and Central America and in West Africa. Aided government agencies in the control of malaria in ten states of the south. Prosecuted hookworm work in nine southern states and in eighteen foreign countries. Helped to expand anti-hookworm campaigns into more general health organizations in countries States and nations.

Brought a war-time anti-tuberculosis work in France to the point where it could soon be left entirely in French hands. Assisted the government of Czechoslovakia to reorganize its public health laboratory system. Rendered various services in organizing committees to study the training of nurses and of hospital superintendents. Lent experts for conferences and counsel, sent officers abroad to study conditions. Brought to a close its participation in war time emergency relief by giving a million dollars to the fund for European children.

These things were done in part by the Foundation, but chiefly through its departmental agencies—the International Health Board, the China Medical Board and the Division of Medical Education.

Great progress is reported in the campaigns against disease, especially in malaria and hookworm districts.

High tribute is paid to the work of the late General Gorgas, who died in the service of the Foundation while on a mission to the West Coast of Africa to study yellow fever.

The Foundation announces that it will in 1921 continue its previous policies.

Sweetens the Stomach

Gives Quick, Almost Instant Relief
From Any Sort of Stomach Trouble.

Read what Boyd Wile, of Newell, W. Va., has to say about Dr. Orth's great Stomach Prescription:

"I suffered with acidity of the stomach for eight months, trying a dozen different kinds of medicine, with no results. I read of Doctor Orth's Stomach Remedy in the paper, bought one box, and after taking it, found I was able to eat anything. Am feeling fine, have had no stomach trouble since, and am pleased to recommend it to any one having Stomach trouble."

Any person suffering from any sort of stomach trouble, acute or chronic, who does not say that Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy is better than anything they ever took for their stomach distress, misery, indigestion, stomach ache, or for any reason whatever, is not satisfied with the treatment, can have their money refunded.

Quick, almost instant relief and permanent cure is what the user of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy is entitled to and what they get. 75 cents gets a big box at any first-class drug store, with the distinct understanding that if it fails, they can have their money refunded. Out-of-town sufferers can order by mail from The Orth Laboratory Co., East Liverpool, Ohio. All druggists can supply you.

These things were done in part by the Foundation, but chiefly through its departmental agencies—the International Health Board, the China Medical Board and the Division of Medical Education.

Efficient Housekeeping
By Laura A. Kistman

ARE YOU A GOOD JUDGE OF TEXTILES?

The good housekeeper becomes an astute judge of textiles. For, her business of managing the home embraces the purchasing of clothing, draperies, bedding, table linen, and other textiles necessary to furnishings or wardrobe. Surely she must not, through ignorance, buy poor grades of cotton, linen, wool and silk—perhaps paying as much for them as for higher grades.

During this month and part of next, I shall publish one article a week on textiles. Today I will deal with cottons.

How Is the Housekeeper to Know a Good Grade of Cotton? There are several tests. A cheap grade of cotton is frequently made to appear heavier by the addition of mixtures called "sizings." Starches, dextrin, glue, gums, china clay and other ingredients constitute this sizing, which adds a large percentage to the weight of a cheap, thin, loosely-woven cotton. Adulterations of this kind give the cloth a good finish, filling up the spaces between the threads, but the wearing quality is very poor. One test to determine the quality of cottons of this sort, is to train the thumb and finger to feel the harshness which sizing gives cotton. Another test is to rumple a little of it and see if chalky white specks of sizing come off on the fingers. (Ask for a sample of the goods, to do this.) Still another test is to hold a sample up to the light and tear it quickly; if a small cloud of starch or sizing can be seen, the quality is poor. Again, touching a sample by the tongue will often result in a starchy taste. And still another cotton test is to wash or thoroughly boil a sample in soda and water, then compare the dried and ironed sample with the bolt of unlaundered cloth.

In giving these tests I do not mean to be misunderstood as saying that cheap grades of cotton should never be purchased; there are many and excellent uses for the cheaper grades of cotton—only the housekeeper should know enough about cottons to avoid the mistake of paying a high price for a grade that is not really worth the money. Upon the housewife's shoulders rests the burden of running the home at the least expense. She cannot do this unless she becomes a judge of the supplies she must purchase.

How to Know a Good Grade of Mercerized Cotton: If you want a good quality of mercerized cotton—and by a good quality I mean one whose gloss will not disappear after hard wear or laundering—expect to pay a fairly good price for it. The cost to the manufacturer of producing a high grade of mercerized cotton, is about three times that of producing unmercerized cotton; consequently if a piece is offered at a very low figure it is well to test it for true mercerization before you buy it. Ask for a sample and take it home and launder it. If the gloss disappears you will know that it was reasonable because its mercerization was only an imitation. Real mercerization on cotton is produced by the action of a strong alkali on cotton fibre rinsed under tension; an imitation of mercerization may be made by the action of very heavy and hot cylinders on ordinary cotton cloth.

Next Tuesday I shall take up linen. Tomorrow—When Milk or Cream Sours.

THE ROSE GOWN AGAIN
CHAPTER 35

A night or two after Forrester's appearance at the hotel a ball was given.

"I think the management is horrid!" Joan grumbled. It had been distinctly given out that children under 16 were neither expected nor wanted. "I'd just love to go."

"I'll tell you all about it," her mother quietly returned. "Are you going?"

"Yes." "But it will be horrid to go alone—" Joan paused. Her words hung in the air. Margaret read her thought.

"I shall not be alone. Mr. Forrester has asked me to go with him." "I hate that man!"

One would not believe so much venom could be put into four words; especially by a girl who looked like a blonde angel.

"Why do you hate him, Joan? We do not hate people without a reason." "He's trying to get you away from me and I hate him!"

"Don't talk that way, Joan. No one on earth can get me away from you. If we are separated it will be you who will leave me. In a few years I shall begin to worry about that I wish I could keep you a little girl always."

Margaret was begging the question, and Joan knew it. "You mean that I will get married."

H., Sept. 12.—From November 1, when the company was organized, until Sept. 1, the Fayette Producers Company commonly known as the shipping association of the Fayette Farm Bureau, paid to the farmers of Fayette county the sum of $526,152.91 for livestock; it was announced last week by M. H. Inskeep, shipping manager.

A total of 403 cars of livestock were shipped. The total number of hogs sold through the Company was 24,982. It was said that the average cost per hundred pounds for selling by this method was seventy cents.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains in my sides, stomach and back so badly that I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. BAKER, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength.
